MR SECRETARY: By direction of the Imperial Chancellor. I have the honor to respectfully communicate to your Excellency the following: The Government of his Majesty the Emperor considers as a preliminary condition for entering into diplomatic negotiations with the Chinese overnment a surrender of such persons as are determined upon as being the first and real perpetrators of the crimes committed in against international law. number of perpetrators who served as tools is too great; a wholesale exe cution would be adverse to the civilized uscience. Furthermore, circumstances would not allow that even the group of leaders could be completely ascertained. But the few among them whose guilt is notorious should be surrendered and punished. The representatives of the Powers in Pekin will be in a sition to make or adduce in this investigation fully valid testimony. The number of those punished is of less importance than their charter as principal instigators and leaders. The Government of his Majesty the Emperor believes that it can depend in this matter upon concurrence of all the Cabinets, for indifference toward the idea of a just expiation would be equivalent to indifference toward a

KEEP OUT THE MISSIONARIES.

Chinese Attache in London Presents the Case From His Countrymen's Point of View. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Sept. 22 .- Nothing so interesting in the whole yexed problem of China has been printed as the solution proposed to-day by Toen Chen, the Secretary of the Chinese legation, in a bold, cynical article in the Daily Mail. It is a reply to a recent contribution by Julian Ralph on Chinese ignorance and superstitlen. Chen comes to the defence of his countrymen with superb but sacrilegious logic. He admits it is all true that Chinamen endeavor to keep off devils by building on the roofs of their houses a little breastwork of cement two or three feet long and three or four inches high with beer bottles stuck in ft, muzzle outward. The sarcastic Chinaman goes on to say "It is said that the Americans spend annually $200,000,000 in propitiating their gods and devils. I do not hesitate to say that the Chinese are able to do the same thing just as effectively for a much larger population for less than half this sum. Many Roman Catholic cathedrals in Europe a d America cost at least £1,000,000. None of them is more effective in warding off devils than the simple little fort the Chinaman builds at the top of his house. Inexpensive beer bottles are just as good in keeping off devils as the largest bells ever erected. If any doubt Thibet. Many years ago it was discovered that if one wrote a prayer and placed it in a teacup and gave the teacup one turn it was just as good as repeating the prayer orally. Ten turns were equal to ten prayers. This was also found true no matter to what extent the apparatus was increased in size or the number of prayers added. So at the present time they put a million prayers, written on thin paper. In a large vessel mounted on a pivot. Giving the vessel one turn registers one million prayers, each of which is as effective.

pivot. Giving the vessel one turn registers one million prayers, each of which is as effective as any other prayer. If any one doubts this we challenge him to a competition.

"If your missionaries can show us any devices in Europe which would be more efficacious in keeping off devils, or cheaper or more expedient in propriating the deities by prayers than those that exist among our important people to-day, then and not till then will it be time for you to send missionaries to China. All our superstitious practices are among the Taoists and Buddhists. The learned literary and official classes are all Confucians, and Confucius taught us to respect our ancestors and leave the gods alone. Confucius teaches us to have nothing to do with any one who pretends to have intercourse with the supernatural. We do not believe in any angels and demons, which is so common in all other systems, and it has often been said of us that because we do not believe in these supernatural belngs our system is not religion at all. When the first Jesuit mis-

A bank of all the first control to a first control to the first control spectability, our systems must be infinitely more respectable than the new faiths, some of which are only three or four hundred years old. "Is there any reason why we Chinese should not be allowed to enjoy our religion in our country in our own way? Confucius taught us that we should do to others as we would have them do to us, and this, I believe, has been introduced into the Christian religion and is generally known as the Golden Rule. Certainly > a should force our priests upon England we hould be doing to the English what we would not like them to do to us. Conversely, the english in forcing their priests upon us are doing what they would not like others to do to hem. Consequently, they are not only breaking the fundamental principles of their own ith but of our faith also. "It will be quite impossible to have peace in China so long as foreign missionaries are allowed o interfere with the institutions of the country. and no government in Pekin can be strong enough to protect unpopular missionaries throughout so vast an empire. We may not e able to keep these missionaries out of China. occause we are not a fighting nation, but any-

the English would not like to have us interfere with any of their religions or institutions. If possible until the missionary is eliminated from our local problem. Recall the missionaries and all will go well." This fundamental missionary problem to attracting more attention in England to-day on the varying phases of the diplomatic situation. There are many sympathizers with Lord Salisbury in his well-known exasperation against the missionaries, but it is just as in possible in England as in America for any Sovernment to adopt an antagonistic or in-ifferent attitude toward them. The latest aspect of the Pekin situation regarded as most grave, especially in view of THE SUN's Shanghai despatches. The reported severance of the United States from concerted action of the Powers is not yet discussed publicly, but it is not believed in diplomatic circles that it will involve a refusal by the United States to cooperate in all matters where the interests of all the Powers are identical. considered impossible, for in tance, for he United States to begin independent negotiations if to-day's announcement proves true that China peremptorily refuses in advance to punish the real leaders of the recent outrages.
